HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Tomorrow is the first day of 1954. Today the old year with its heartaches, heartbreaks, joys and sorrows, is now past into history. Before us is a brand new year, with new opportunities and responsibilities. What shall we do with it? Our future will depend, in a measure, on the manner that we as individuals and as a nation, meet the challenges that are in store for us.

"TO THE NEW YEAR"

(Selected by Mrs. F. W. Hughes.)

We cannot tell with certainty
The course that you should steer,
But wake our trip around the sun
A happy one this year.

Guide us so we see the moon
And stars along the way;
Follow paths that hold for us
Some sunlight every day.

Lead us quickly through the clouds
And storms that block our view,
Then let us linger to enjoy
A rainbow's lovely hue.

Time, you have so much to spend,
We have but little here,
So make our trip around the sun
A happy one this year.

Dr. E. C. Watkins is in St. Joseph's Hospital, where he underwent a major operation.

By SHIRLEY SARGENT

ON ACCOUNT of being the oldest in a big family, I've been sitting longer than I remember. Since I was twelve—that's been four years now that I'm with in hatching desire of my sixteenth birthday—I've been sitting for other people to pay. I've always welcomed jobs but tonight what I'd welcome is a date—so what happens? Four times I'm called to our wall phone and four times I have to turn people down 'cause I already promised the Laytons. The Laytons are kind of old to have Jennie, four, and Jimmy, six, but they planned it so their first two would be grown-up before they had any more.

Anytime, nobody calls me for a date, not anyone does very often. So I'm off for an evening of fun and hilarity. Baby sitting, haw! They aren't babies, and try and sit with those two. For example, Jennie grabs a fruitcake while I'm helping Jimmy with his train, they have two fights, Jimmy turns on all the lights as fast as I can turn them off and finally Jennie knocks the Christmas tree over. It was a big tree with a standard and all, but she catches it with her jump rope.

Quick-like I run in and pull out the plug, thanking my stars that no fire started, then herd them up to bed. Three stories later they're both asleep and I hurry down to wash the dishes.

Tired now, I'm thinking of the good time my friends are having and wondering again why I don't have more dates. The hall mirror shows the same old reflection.

"Oh, please," his face is all eager, "stay, I hate to be alone."

Short brown hair, brown eyes and a big mouth that hides my crooked teeth, if I don't forget and grin.

Soon's it have a little money, I can afford braces.

Jennie yells and I wake her from a nightmare. By the time I'm back downstairs, it's nearly ten o'clock and I've still got that darned tree to set up. Like I say, it's a beautiful big tree, ceiling high, loaded with decorations.

There I am half under the tree, trying to hold it straight and keep the globes on at the same time, when I hear the front door open. Somebody yells, "Anybody home?"

I'm so startled I let the tree sway, so this voice yells, "Timber!" and a long arm grabs for the trunk.

Looking up between the branches, I see a tall, dark-haired boy, neither handsome nor homely. "Thanks," I'm a little breathless.

"I'm Oliver Layton," he explains, "isn't that a heck of a name?"

"Pine needles are thick in the air. 'Not so awful,' I laugh back. "Tim Margie, the sitter. Your folks are out."

"I know. Look here, can't we do something about this tree?"

A few minutes later we collapse into chairs, staring at the still lovely tree. "Thanks so much. Can I get you something to eat or anything?"

"Say, that'd be keen. Would you?"

Well, of course, I do and, while Oliver eats, he tells me how he's staying at a friend's this vacation but decided to come home and take his girl to a dance. "So I called her and came clear in by bus, but she didn't wait. She went with somebody else. Heck," he grins, "now I'm sorta glad she stood me up."

"I'd better be on my way now that you're here to baby sit," I say reluctantly.

"Oh, please," his face is all eager, "stay, I hate to be alone."

Back in the living room then, he asks me all about the kids and about me until, to hear us talk, you'd think we were old friends. I like the way he talks, slow and quiet, and the way his grin lights up his whole face. He tells me about boarding school and his friends and what he wants to do. Suddenly, he jumps up. "Let's dance. We can roll up the rug."

It turns out we're both such dancers we have to take our shoes off so's not to hurt each other. But we laugh a lot and the radio sounds fine and I fit right into Oliver's arms. At midnight, he kisses me lightly on the cheek.

Well, it's the happiest sitter's eve I've ever spent and, from the look in his eyes, I can tell it's going to be a Happy Holiday.

Here's The Low Down From Hickory Grove

I been tryin' to find the how-ome of the question of why the more holders of B.A., B.S., and other degrees, that roam the land the more wars we have—the more confusion that envelops us.

To start the ball rolling I would venture that the big fly in the ointment might be in the Big School house. Its curriculum is designed to fetch in the greatest number. In psychology, social sciences, welfare and such, a simple desire to enjoy campus life will come close to getting the applicant past the entrance gate. You go in more or less devoid of what it is all about—you come out with a B.S. in social uplift with which you can prove nothing via a slipstick—you just have an opinion, and such an opinion is as liable to be as far from horse sense when you come out as when you went in—if not more so.

My proposed Big School during the first half year would sport a curriculum including historic clear back to Ptolemy, Aeschylus, arithmetic, writing and Joe Miller's jests. Just where and how the U. S. got itself on the side-track versus staying on the main line might get cleared up by the freshmen themselves if they were exposed for 6 months to my new course. Nobody with a B.S. degree in A.E.S. would be duck soup for the floors, ceilings and such theorist ideas we been putting up with—and still are.

Yours with the low down,

JO SERRA.

"Like Father Like Son"

The consensus of opinion of U. S. psychiatrists and doctors about the underlying cause of homo-sexuality of boys is that the individual has failed to unite in purposes and interests with his father. In normal development a young boy wants to be substantially like his father. Things go wrong when the boy rejects his father as an ideal. The main reason a father is rejected is almost invariably a lack of true paternal love. That lack is often made up for the boy by a greater interest in other boys.

Now is a good time for fathers to start, if they haven't before, being good examples for their sons. The Bible says, "Fathers, provoke not your children to wrath, but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." (Eph. 6:4.)

"Furthermore we have had fathers of our flesh which corrected us, and we gave them reverence; shall we not much rather be in subjection unto the Father of Spirits, and live?" (Heb. 12:9.)

BOB SHOTTS.

COUNTY CANCER UNIT REORGANIZED

Meetings Be Held Quarterly For The Formation Of Plans For The Study Of Problems

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Bulloch county cancer unit officers were elected for the coming year and plans were made for regular meetings of the unit and the dispensing of information concerning the symptoms of cancer. Dr. Zach Henderson presided over the organizational meeting. Seamon Williams was named chairman and Gilliam was named secretary. The unit, Miss Zula Gammage will serve as secretary and Wallis Cobb, treasurer.

Working with these officers will be Al Sutherland, unit president, and Henry McCormack, vice-president. Upon these two will rest the responsibility for much of the program of the unit in the county.

Other members of the board of directors are J. A. Pafford, Miss Sarah Hall, Rev. Frederick Wilson, Henry Jr., Rev. Raymond H. P. Jones, Dr. B. Minkovitz, Miss John Gray, Max Lockwood and Mrs. L. M. Durden.

Meetings of the unit will be held quarterly, but another meeting will be called within a month to complete the naming of committees that will function throughout the unit.

Hold Tobacco Clinic Here Next Wednesday

A tobacco clinic will be held in the Bulloch county court house January 6th at 10 a. m., Byron Dyer county agent, announces. The tobacco research workers from the Coastal Plain Experiment Station, Tifton, have been procured for the clinic. Dr. J. G. Gaines, the pathologist, will also be along to help with the disease discussions.

There was considerable diseased tobacco in Bulloch county this year. An effort was made at that time to hold a clinic out in some of these fields. At the recent county Farm Bureau annual meeting the group asked that a clinic be held prior to planting time. The extension tobacco specialists and the experiment station research workers agreed to come here Wednesday of next week.

GOOD RECORDS CAN INCREASE PROFITS

Problems Of Many Years Make More Neeful The Exercise Wise Management

(By W. TAP BENNETT, Director, Agricultural Development Department, Central Georgia Railway.)

The many problems which farmers will face during 1954 make it more necessary than ever that every precaution be taken to insure a profit from each operation on the farm.

One of the most important problems to be solved is the profitable use of high-priced farm labor. Wherever hired labor is employed on a farm, it should be used on those projects which will return the highest rate for the labor expended. For instance, there is the story of a farmer who believed in keeping farm records and balancing his farm projects accordingly. Analyzing his books, he found that his labor was being paid at the rate of $1.30 per hour by dairy cows, $3.30 an hour by hogs, and $4 an hour by chickens. The important point of this story is that the farmer kept records and found in them the answer to his future plans.

Present-day farming is a business of large investment and heavy annual expenses. Good business methods must be followed to make a success of farming and good accounting is necessary for any sound business. And that means good farm records. Farming has become far more than just plowing, planting and harvesting crops and feeding livestock. Even large crop yields and good livestock give a farmer no advantage unless his operation is balanced to give a good margin of profit between cost and income.

Farm records are to a farmer what the rudder is to a ship and every farm operator should start the year by setting up complete records to be kept throughout the year so that he may know which of his projects are the most profitable.

County agents will gladly assist farmers in setting up a system to be followed which is best adapted to each individual farm and obtaining suitable record forms.

MISS LESTER BRIDE OF BOB LEE

Miss Catherine Lester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm B. Lester, became the bride of Bob Lee, son of Dewey Lee and the late Mrs. Lee, in a lovely candlelight ceremony taking place Saturday evening in Statesboro Methodist church with the Rev. Frederick Wilson performing the double-ring service in the presence of relatives and close friends. Mrs. Z. S. Henderson, organist, rendered a program of wedding music and also sang "At Dawning," "I Love You Truly," "O, Perfect Love," and at the conclusion of the ceremony sang "The Lord's Prayer." Palms, white gladioli and white tapers in cathedral candelabra formed the background for the ceremony. Morgan Lee was his brother's best man and Miss Tallulah Lester served as her sister's only attendant. She was attractive in a navy taffeta frock with which she wore a small navy hat, navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations at the waistline.

The bride, who entered with the groom, was lovely in a winter white wool suit trimmed with satin covered buttons and satin piping and a small Peter Pan collar of white fur studded with pearls and rhinestones. She wore a small white hat and other accessories of royal blue and a corsage of white orchids. Mrs. Lester, the brides mother, who before her marriage was Miss Sarah Blanks, of Milledgeville, selected for her daughter's wedding a black silk crepe with black accessories and corsage of white carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Lester entertained with an informal reception in the church parlors, where beautiful decorations of holly and Christmas berries were used. The bride's table was covered with an embroidered linen cloth. The three-tiered cake, topped with miniature bride and groom, was placed on one end of the table, and on the opposite end was a silver service. White tapers in silver holders were grouped in the center of the table, and silvered pitted sorghum leaves and ivy extended the length of the table. Silver compotes held mints and nuts. The cake was cut by Mrs. T. E. Rowe, and Mrs. Barron Sewell, of Atlanta, poured Miss Peggy Herrington, of Claxton; ad coffee. Assisting with serving were Miss Sue Brannen, Miss Frances Armstrong, Mrs. Allen Mikell, Mrs. Fred T. Lanier and Mrs. Thomas Smith.

During the evening the young couple left for a wedding trip to Florida. Among those from out of town attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Barron Sewell, Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hays and daughters, Carla and Lissa, Gatlinburg, Tenn.; Mrs. Andrew Herrington, Miss Peggy Herrington, Mrs. Carl Rushing, Mr. Todd, Claxton; Mr. and Mrs. Lovett Bennett, Sylvania; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bowen, Beaufort, S. C.; and Mrs. Gladys Taylor, Savannah.

OPEN HOUSE AT FOREST HEIGHTS

Among the lovely Christmas parties was open house held Saturday afternoon at Forest Heights Country Club with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Cobb, of Rocky Mount, N. C., and Statesboro, as charming hosts. Adding to the beauty of the holiday decorations of the club was the tea table from which punch, small ham biscuits, assorted Christmas cookies, mints and nuts were served. The table covered with a floor-length white satin cloth, was centered with a silver bowl filled with white carnations flanked by five-branched silver candelabra holding white burning tapers. On one end was a handsome silver punch bowl and on the opposite end was a lovely glass punch bowl, and serving punch were Mrs. Frank Grimes, Mrs. E. C. Oliver and Mrs. Walker Hill. Assisting the hosts with entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Donaldson, Mr. and Mrs. Inman Foy, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Olliff, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Leodel Coleman, Mrs. Virginia Grimes Evans, Walker Hill, Miss Dorothy Brannen, Mrs. J. P. Foy, Mrs. Walter McDougald, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Gibson Johnston, Gibson Johnston Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Brown, of Brunswick. During the afternoon lovely organ selections were played by Mrs. Roger Holland.

THREE O'CLOCKS

Members of the Three O'Clocks and a few other guests were delightfully entertained Wednesday afternoon of last week by Miss Elizabeth Sorrier at her home on Savannah Avenue, where season's decorations were used. Strawberry parfait was served with coffee and nuts. For high score in bridge Mrs. Prince Preston won a flower bowl; for second high a trivet went to Mrs. W. A. Bowen, and a surprise ball in which a lipstick was concealed was won for cut by Mrs. Sam Franklin. Other guests were Mrs. Robert Donaldson, Mrs. Leodel Coleman, Mrs. Walter Aldred, Miss Dorothy Brannen, Mrs. J. P. Foy, Mrs. Fred Blitch, Mrs. Willis Cobb, Mrs. Loy Waters, Mrs. Virginia Grimes Evans, Mrs. Claud Howard, Mrs. Henry Blitch, Mrs. Wilburn Woodcock and Miss Leona Newton.

MISS BETTY SUE BRANNEN HONORED

Miss Betty Sue Brannen, bride-elect, was honored at a lovely party given Monday afternoon by Miss Donelle Thompson at her home on South Main street. Entertaining games were enjoyed and dainty party sandwiches, potato chips, cake topped with whipped cream and Coca-Colas were served. A set of crystal flair glassware was presented to Miss Brannen. Twelve guests were present.

HERITAGE DISCUSSION PROGRAM AT LIBRARY

The American Heritage discussion series will hold its initial meeting on Monday, January 11th, at the library. This meeting will be the first in a series of eight discussions to be held at intervals of ten weeks throughout the coming months. Adult discussion is another service being offered the public by the library. It is no study course or answer program, but a series of programs designed to give people an opportunity to explore their American heritage, reading and talking about the things which have gone into the making of America. Materials for reading, leadership for discussion and a meeting place for the group will be provided by the library. In order to give every member an opportunity to enter actively into discussion, the membership of the group is limited. Registration is now under way at the library, where complete details concerning the program may be obtained.
